Norfolk, Va., December 25.—After a day of argument, Judge R. L. Chichester, of Fredericksburg, who is hearing the contested election case in Norfolk, announced late to-day that the Citizens' Party's contestants could file an amended bill of complaint. While his decision might ordinarily be looked upon as a victory for those who are contesting the election of James V. Trehy as clerk of the court, and B. Gray Tunstall as city treasurer, Judge Chichester let it be known that he wanted to get at the truth in the entire matter.

Gray Tunstall as city treasurer, Judge Chichester let it be known that he wanted to get at the truth in the entire matter and reserved the right to reject anything submitted in the amended bill that he did not deem proper.

The Corporation Court room was crowded to its capacity when Judge Chichester, who is sitting for Judge Alian R. Hanekel, rapped for order.

An array of counsel, among whom are several of the best lawyers in Tidewater, were lined up ready for the battle. C. J. Collins, leading counsel of the contestants, submitted arguments and cited authorities as to why his clients should be permitted to file an amended bill of complaint. R. R. Hicks and Waller H. Taylor, counsel for Messrs. Trehy and Tunstall opposed the introduction of an amended bill on the ground that the law required charges in an election contest to be filed to-night.

OBITUARY

Thomas F. Minor.

Thomas F. Minor.

Thomas F. Minor, who died at his home, 1708 Park Avenue, on Monday night at 10:15 o'clock, after a brief illness, was a native of Mathews County, and was a son of Captain Robert Benjamin and Martha White Minor. The greater part of Mr Minor's life was spent in this city, where for years he was a leading wholesale grocer and grain merchant. In his business career he exemplified the highest ideals of integrity, while his social and domestic relations were ever characterized by the spirit of the true and gentle Christian. For many years he was an earnest worker in Broad Street M. E. Church, of which he was a member and trustee up to his death, having been superintendent of the Sunday school for a decade or more. His hand was always responsive to the needs of his less fortunate fellows, and his home was a favorite resort for the preachers.
